

Senior Product Manager (80%-100%)

Who we are

NOUMENA Digital AG is a rapidly growing innovative Swiss-based Technology Company.

We build enterprise products and solutions across a variety of industries with our own smart contract language on our cutting-edge technology. Our success is built on process-oriented distributed technology, a focused vision and strategy, an international team of business and technology experts, a cross-industry customer base and a strong external partner network.

Culture

We value people that are excited about developing innovative solutions. Our team members are comfortable in the fast-changing world of start-ups. They are creative, like to figure things out together and are eager to move things forward.

Role

We are looking for a product manager with interdisciplinary skills in business modelling and solution architecture to strengthen our team. In this role you will

- Identify short- and long-term value propositions for our clients
- Challenge existing business processes and jointly design new processes with our clients
- Shape the future of our products, by defining their roadmap, architecture and features and ensuring their quality
- Orchestrate requirements engineering
- Manage client priorities and steer product development
- Closely interact with IT experts and business representatives
- Feed requirements back into the development of our core platform

Qualifications

- A university degree or equivalent in Sciences, Business Administration or related fields
- Experience in IT consulting, project management or IT architecture
- Motivation to design innovative products based on a novel technology stack
- Affinity with smart contracts (beneficial)
- Appetite to work in a team
- Excellent communication and presentation skills
- Fluency in English and German, in speaking and writing

We Offer

- A competitive compensation package
- Work in an agile team with highly experienced Software Engineers, DevOps, Business Analysts and Product Managers
- Exposure to multiple industries (finance, energy, automotive industry, ...)

Other Requirements

A Swiss or EU/EFTA passport or a valid Swiss work permit type B or C

Please send applications and questions to careers@noumenadigital.com